Accessibility Solutions

Web Accessibility

In the same way that buildings have ramps for people who use wheelchairs, web sites should be accessible to staff, students, and customers who are blind, deaf, or physically disabled.

MSF&W offers a full range of solutions that can help you make your web sites and applications accessible – including audits, testing, training, repair, development, and more.

MSF&W's Accessibility Team pioneered some of the first accessible information systems in Illinois.

We wrote the Illinois Web Accessibility Standards and helped develop the Illinois Information Technology Accessibility Act.

We can help you ensure that your web sites and information systems are accessible too.

More Information

Accessibility Services

- Audits – Our accessibility experts can test your site for compliance with leading accessibility standards and assistive technology tools.
- Training – We provide customized, hands-on training to teach you how to create accessible web sites, PDF documents, multimedia, and forms.
- Development – We can repair accessibility problems in your existing systems or build new systems that are accessible from the start.

Accessibility Tools

- BrowseAloud – With Texthelp's BrowseAloud, we can make your web site talk to users with low vision, low literacy, and learning disabilities.
- CommonLook for Adobe Acrobat – We offer NetCentric's CommonLook, a powerful tool that can help make your PDF documents accessible.

Usability Services

- Usability Reviews – Our usability experts can test your site against leading usability guidelines.
- User Testing – We can design tests, recruit users, analyze results, and provide an easy-to-understand usability report.
